

AW2 – Your Crating & Packaging Partner

AW2's Crating and Packing Division manufactures custom wooden packaging designed to meet your specific needs. We can match your exact specifications with computer-assisted precision that provides optimal protection for your sensitive equipment. Our design engineers, with a combined 140+ years of experience, work with you to create reliable custom packaging for your products including the ability to load, block and brace ocean containers.

Here are four factors that make our service unique:

1. Service & Speed

Utilizing our "Stock & Release" solution, even on short notice, we have the production, materials capacity and experience to efficiently manage large scale orders. This has contributed greatly to our reputation for impeccable service and outstanding turnaround speed. When the project demands it our AW2 Road Crew will work on site to ensure that delivery goals are met.

2. Expertise

With years of expertise our team of ISO certified engineers understand the challenges you face. AW2 leverages cutting edge technology, including SolidWorks, to work directly with your 3D models to craft expert, custom solutions.

3. Safety

Our crates and cases are built to withstand the challenges of harsh shipping environments where safe handling is anything but guaranteed. We will insure your item arrives undamaged.

4. Supply Chain Support

As a division of AW2 Logistics, an Ace Worldwide company, we have extensive domestic and international shipping experience that considers the appropriate shipping method, cost constraints, regulations and, of course, the optimal crating solution for your projects.

All AW2 packages meet the International Plant Protection Convention (IPPC) standards for heat-treating compliance and we are committed to green, reusable and lean packing technologies and solutions.

AW2 Crating & Packaging provides the expertise you need to efficiently deliver your products to market on time and on budget. We just don't build crates we build dynamic relationships with clients for years to come.
